Robin is treasurer of Goldman Sachs. He is co-chair of the Firmwide Finance Committee and is a member of the Firmwide Risk Committee and the Firmwide Client and Business Standards Committee.

Robin joined Goldman Sachs as an analyst in 1994, eventually assuming responsibility for Global Money Markets in Fixed Income, Currency and Commodities in 2005. He then became the head of the Operations Division in 2006. From 2011 to 2015, Robin relocated to London and also assumed the position of chief operating officer and head of the Federation in EMEA. During his time in London he also served as the chief executive officer of Goldman Sachs International Bank and as a director of Goldman Sachs International and Goldman Sachs International Bank. Robin was named managing director in 2002 and partner in 2006.

Robin is a member of National Geographic Society's International Council of Advisors.