
Chris Buddin
Investment Banking
San Francisco

Chris is global head of the Clean Technology and Renewables (CTR) Group and Internet of Things in the Investment Banking Division (IBD). Chris joined Goldman Sachs in 2011 as a vice president and was named managing director in 2012.

Prior to joining the firm, Chris worked at Credit Suisse in the Technology Group from 2000 to 2011. While at Credit Suisse, he was one of the founding members of the global alternative energy group and was head of the Clean Technology practice.

Chris earned an AB in Economics from Stanford University.