

Not many people really know how much effort and practice we put into each day. You can get anywhere with just talent. An hour before my time is when I set foot on the range, warm up, seeing the shots that I want to hit, judging the weather that we're about to play in, go on the first tee and live in my own little bubble for 5 hours. There are times where you can see your heart beating through your shirt and all you can lean on is the preparation and knowing that you did everything possible to be in that situation. Exceptional means that you are the best of the best.
