
Kyung-Ah Park

Executive Office

New York

Kyung-Ah is head of the Environmental Markets Group, which oversees and supports the global environmental initiatives of Goldman Sachs. In this capacity, she works closely with the businesses on environmental risk management and plays a strategic role in furthering environmental market opportunities. Kyung-Ah also manages the Center for Environmental Markets, which partners with corporates, nongovernmental organizations and academic institutions to facilitate research and develop pilot projects that inform public policy and further market-based solutions to environmental challenges. She serves on the firmwide Physical Commodity Review Committee.

Previously, Kyung-Ah was a vice president in the Industrials Group in the Investment Banking Division and an executive director of Goldman Sachs (Asia) LLC, where she worked in an advisory capacity with clients across the region. She joined Goldman Sachs in 1998 in the Mergers & Acquisitions Department in New York and was named managing director in 2010.

Prior to joining the firm, Kyung-Ah worked as a management consultant at McKinsey & Company in Seoul, Korea, and Johannesburg, South Africa.

Kyung-Ah serves on the Board of Directors of Girls Inc. of NYC.

Kyung-Ah earned an MBA from Harvard Business School and a BA from Yonsei University in Seoul, Korea.