
Heather Bellini

Global Investment Research
New York

Heather is business unit leader of the Technology Research Group. She is also a senior equity research analyst covering the Software and select Internet companies. Heather joined Goldman Sachs as a managing director in 2011 and was named partner in 2012.

Prior to joining the firm, Heather was a senior managing director and head of technology research at International Strategy and Investment from 2009 to 2011. Earlier, she was head of technology research as well as a software analyst at UBS from 2003 to 2009.

Heather earned a BA in Economics from Denison University and an MBA in Finance from Columbia University. She is a CFA charterholder.