
Tammy A. Kiely

Investment Banking
San Francisco

Tammy is co-head of Technology Investment Banking within the Technology, Media and Telecommunications Group. She is also global head of the Semiconductor practice, a position she has held since 2006. Tammy is a firmwide champion for Launch With GS, Goldman Sachs' $1 billion investment strategy grounded in the firm's data-driven thesis that diverse teams drive strong returns. She is also a member of the firm's Growth Investing Committee. During her tenure at the firm, Tammy has worked with a variety of companies on numerous financings as well as mergers and acquisitions. She joined Goldman Sachs in 1999 in the Technology Investment Banking Group. Tammy became a vice president in 2002 and was named managing director in 2007 and partner in 2014.

Prior to joining the firm, Tammy worked at KPMG as a certified public accountant in the Information, Communications and Entertainment practice. She provided assurance services to technology companies, with a particular focus on semiconductor and hardware companies.

Tammy serves as a trustee for the San Jose Museum of Art, is a member of the Dean's Advisory Council at the Orfalea College of Business at the California Polytechnic State University, and serves on the Board of Regents for Junipero Serra High School in San Mateo.

Tammy earned a BS in Business Administration, summa cum laude, from the California Polytechnic State University in San Luis Obispo, California, in 1993. She earned an MBA from the Stanford University Graduate School of Business, where she was an Arjay Miller Scholar, in 1999.
