
Peter Oppenheimer
Global Investment Research
London

Peter is chief global equity strategist and head of Macro Research in Europe. He is a member of the Global Investment Research Client and Business Standards Committee, the Structured Research Products Group and the Senior Diversity Council. Peter joined Goldman Sachs in 2002 as European and global strategist and was named managing director in 2003 and partner in 2006.

Prior to joining the firm, Peter worked as managing director and chief investment strategist at HSBC and was previously head of European strategy at James Capel. Prior to that, he was chief economic strategist at Hambros Bank. He began his career as an economist at Greenwells in 1985.

Peter is a trustee of the Anne Frank Trust UK, an education-based charity working against prejudice, racism and persecution. He is a trustee of The Anna Freud Centre in London, a research and clinical organization providing mental health treatment for children and families. Peter also serves on the London School of Economics Investment Committee.

Peter earned a BSc, first class, in Economics from the London School of Economics in 1985.