Primary Account Agreements

Effective Date: May 28, 2020

Your privacy is important to us. The purpose of this Privacy Policy is to explain the practices of the Private Wealth Management ("PWM") business conducted by Goldman Sachs & Co. LLC, Goldman Sachs Bank USA, the Goldman Sachs Trust Company, N.A. and the Goldman Sachs Trust Company of Delaware (collectively "Goldman Sachs" or "we") with respect to the collection, use, disclosure, and safeguarding of your personal information.

OUR COLLECTION, USE, AND DISCLOSURES PRACTICES

In the table below, we have identified, by category, the various types of personal information that we collect about you and we have provided examples for illustrative purposes. We collect and use your personal data for a specific purpose as explained in the table below and we have listed the types of parties with whom we may share it from time to time. Although most of the personal information we hold is obtained directly from you, we have indicated below the other sources of such information.

Applicable law may require not only that we disclose the types of third parties with whom we may share personal information but also that we identify the categories of personal information we share with third parties for business purposes.

These categories could include any or all of the following: personal identifiers; device and online identifiers and related information; demographic information; financial information; government identifiers; legally protected classification characteristics; Internet, application, and network activity; location data; audio data; and professional or employment-related information.

Due to the size and complexity of Goldman Sachs' operations, it is not possible to name each of our data recipients in this policy. However, Goldman Sachs only shares your personal data with the types of data recipients listed below.

PROTECTION OF PERSONAL INFORMATION

Firm policy mandates that confidential information, including your personal information, be safeguarded from misuse, misappropriation and improper dissemination. Goldman Sachs maintains policies and procedures designed to protect client information in accordance with this Firm mandate, including training our employees, physically locating our employees to minimize potential breaches of confidentiality, and applying technology controls as required by applicable law. More specifically, confidential information is made available only to persons who have a need to know such information in connection with the duties they carry out or the services they perform.

System access entitlements are designed to minimize exposure to confidential information, and reasonable and appropriate security measures are used to protect such systems against potential external threats. Procedures for escalating and remediating incidents involving actual or suspected security incidents are also an essential part of our security program. Finally, the use of personal information by affiliates and service providers is carried out in accordance with applicable state and federal privacy laws.

THE INTERNET (GOLDMAN.COM)

The following additional information will be of interest to you as a user of the PWM private client website (Goldman.com or "the Site"):

Users of Goldman.com are required to identify and authenticate themselves prior to accessing our services. Generally, identification and authentication take place through the use of your user name and a password, or with an RSA SecurID* Card and a Personal Identification Number (PIN). The Site is built upon a secure infrastructure with multiple layers of protection, including measures ranging from proper physical security of our machines to system intrusion detection capabilities. Within the Site, Goldman Sachs uses industry standard encryption technologies to protect your information from external compromise.

Security is a cooperative effort between Goldman Sachs and the users of Goldman.com. Please remember that your user name and password are personal to you and should not be made available to any other person. Also, you should discontinue their use and notify us if you have any reason to suspect that someone else may be using them.

"Cookies" are small text files that may be placed on your Web browser when you visit the Site or when you view advertisements we have placed on other Web sites. For more information about cookies, how our web sites use them, and your options with respect to their use, please see our cookies policy, available at <https://www.goldmansachs.com/privacy-and-cookies/index.html>.

"Clickstream" data (e.g., information regarding which of our Web pages you access, the frequency of such access, and your product and service preferences) may be collected by Goldman Sachs itself, or by our service providers, using cookies, Web beacons, page tags, or similar tools that are set when you visit the Site or when you view advertisements we have placed on another Web site. Clickstream data and similar information may be shared internally within Goldman Sachs and used: for administrative purposes; to assess the usage, value and performance of our online products and services; to improve your experience with our Web sites; and as otherwise permitted by applicable law or regulation. This information may be processed by us for the purposes described above, or on our behalf by third parties, solely in accordance with our instructions.

Goldman Sachs may make available on the Site third party applications, including, for example, bill pay services. Information collected by providers of such applications is governed by their privacy policies.

The Site is not currently configured to respond to "do not track" signals or similar mechanisms.

CHANGES TO THIS POLICY

We may update this Privacy Policy to reflect changes to our information practices or legal requirements. The effective date at the top of this Privacy Policy indicates when this Privacy Policy was last revised. Any changes will become effective when we post the revised Privacy Policy on the Site or otherwise provide it to you. Your use of the Site following these changes means that you accept the revised Privacy Policy.

RESIDENTS OF CALIFORNIA

California residents should be aware that this section does not apply to: Personal information covered by certain sector-specific privacy laws, including the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (GLBA) and its implementing regulations, the California Financial Information Privacy Act (FIPA), and the Driver's Privacy Protection Act of 1994; or other information subject to a California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA) exception.

If you are a resident of California, you have certain rights in relation to your personal information pursuant to the CCPA. These include your right to:

- Request information about the personal information that we collect about you and the manner in which we process and disclose that information
- Obtain the specific pieces of personal information that we have collected about you in the 12 months preceding your request
- Delete certain personal information that we have collected about you
- Opt-out of disclosures of your personal information to third parties under certain circumstances
- Not be discriminated against as a result of exercising any of the aforementioned rights

If you would like to discuss or exercise such rights, please contact us at Goldman.com or 1-800-209-0139, or by calling or emailing your Private Wealth Management team. California law requires us to verify the requests we receive from you when you exercise certain of the rights listed above. To verify your request, we will check the information you provide us in your request (which may include your name, phone number, and email address) against third party identity verification tools or verified information you have previously provided to us. As part of this process, we may call you after you submit your request to verify information. You may also designate an authorized agent to exercise certain of the rights listed above on your behalf by providing the authorized agent with power of attorney pursuant to the California Probate Code or by executing other documentation we may require. The authorized agent may make the request on your behalf by following the instructions above. If an authorized agent submits a request on your behalf, we will contact you to verify that they represent you.

California law requires that we describe certain disclosures of personal information where we receive valuable consideration. California law treats such disclosures as "sales" even if no money is exchanged. We do not sell information to third parties as defined under California law. We do not knowingly sell the personal information of minors under 16 years of age.
